What is the AIWW?

- Asia International Water Week (AIWW)

- The Asia International Water Week (AIWW) is a flagship event of the AWC. It is a triennial water gathering to discuss Asia's water issues, release the joint statement drafted by Asian water leaders, find water project opportunities, and exhibit innovative water technologies. The AIWW is an inclusive water event where those who are interested in resolving Asian water issues can participate.

➤ September 20 to 23, 2017 | Gyeongju, Republic of Korea

“Asian Solutions for Water”

Raising Asian Water Issues

One of the key accomplishments of the 1st Asia International Water Week is that AWC enabled to address and spread the water problems not only in Asia but also around the world

“ We need a viable solution by the Government and civil cooperation in the Asian region “

Water and Climate change (IWHR)

Drinking Water and Sanitation (K-water)

Sustainable Water Resources Management (RID)

Water-Energy-Food Nexus (UNFAO)

Water for Ecosystems and Waterfronts (GIWEH)
